A number of gypsies are encamped at the forks of the Maple creek and Twilight roads. They have five or six wagons and a number of horses, some dags, and a bear cub. Several children are with the party.

They state that they all belonged to one family, except one old woman who has no friends. She is believed to be over 100 years old. They say that they have another brother coming with a big bear.

When asked how they made a living they replied that they had the bears perform. They are also horse traders. They claim they are not fortune tellers.

Lyle, county chairman, has planned an automobile trip over the county for the last days of June. Mrs. Lyle will be accompanied by state organization speakers, among them Mrs. Frank Roessing, state president of the suffrage clubs.

The membership committee, under the charge of Miss C. C. Thompson, former principal of Washington seminary, is accomplishing great things in its line and a large number of former anti-suffragists are now loyal and valued members of the organization. Canonsburg is also rising to the surface by floating a membership almost as large as that in Washington. Walter Thomas, the young farm hand charged with the murder of Mrs. Josephine Price, at Rices Landing, last September, who has been on trial in the Waynesburg court for the past two weeks was found guilty of murder in the second degree by the jury, Saturday. At 5:31 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Judge James Ingram finished his charge to the 12 men who were to decide the fate of the young man.

The large crowd heaved a sigh of relief as the jury filed out to consider a verdict, after the hours that they had listened with bated breath to the stirring and eloquent addresses to the jury by both counsel for the commonwealth and the defense.

Attorney W. C. McKean, for the commonwealth, presented the case for the state and asked that the jury return a verdict of murder in the first degree.

Attorney J. W. Ray delivered a strong appeal for the young farm hand and asked that he be acquitted outlining the testimony and intimating that some person more deeply interested in the death of Mrs. Price had committed the crime.

Judge Ingram consumed 51 minutes in charging the jury and reading

PERMANENT GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Day for Highway Improvement to be Made Annual Institution

BOOMERS HOLD MEETING

Forty Men From All Parts of County in Session at County Seat

At a meeting of more than 40 citizens from different parts of the county who were interested in the Good Roads day movement of May 26, held in the Town hall at Washington Saturday afternoon, the Washington County Good Roads association was organized. Dr. W. D. Martin of Sparta, was chosen president and J. M. McKee. county agriculturist. secretary of the association. These two officers will select a central executive committee which will have the power to make its own rules and regulations for the government of the association.

The meeting was presided over by John L. Stewart. who had acted chairman of the good roads day movement. He stated that the purpose of the meeting was to hear reports from different sections of the county as to the work done on May 26 and if thought advisable to effect a permanent organization for the purpose of making good roads day a permanent one and making it effective for the working of better roads in Washington county. J. M. McKee acted as secretary.

C. E. Carothers, chairman of the finance committee reported that over $700 had been subscribed to finance the work for May 26 and Secretary McKee reported the disbursements, the money being expended principally for publicity. roads drags and labor.

Dr. W. D. Martin gave a report of the work done in Morris township by more than 200 men. Rev. F. S. Brenneman spoke of the work done in South Franklin township. B. County Commissioner R. L. Munce said that he had traveled over the county considerably since May 26, from north to south and from east to west and everywhere he found evidences of the good work which had been accomplished and of the splendid feeling among the people over the results and that every one he met was enthusiastic for a permanent good roads day in the county.

Rev. C. L. McKee of the central executive committee said that as he went over the county helping in the organization work he found opposition to the movement in some sections at first but that the results of the work had changed this opinion everywhere.

A resolution was adopted recommending that the state of Pennsylvania. following the example set by Washington county have a good roads day next year for all the counties of the state.

SAFETY FIRST SOCIETY

New York has a "Safety First Society." Every community might well possess one, says the McKeesport Daily News. The object of the society can easily be guessed from the title. It is to prevent accidents. This society, in large advertisements, is asking motorists and others to be considerate, to go slow in passing children, vehicles, in approaching crossings and in turning corners; to stop at railroad crossings, behind street cars taking on or discharging passengers and to use tire chains on wet or slippery paving. The society also asks citizens to help by sending it numbers of automobiles involved in accidents. Finally, the society urges that it is "better to be safe than sorry." All of which is true. Were the rules as laid down in the advertisements carried out there would be few accidents.

But, while automobiles are responsible for many accidents that happen in the streets of our cities and along the country roads, we see no reason to single them out. Others are careless. We noticed the other day, that an ambulance passed with the horses traveling at a good speed and the driver gazing in another direction. He was ringing a bell, alright, but what would have been the result had a deaf person or a child been in the way? Death, probably; injury, certainly. This driver, perhaps, was on his way to pick up some unfortunate who had been run down by a careless driver. Be he driving an automobile or a wagon, no driver has the right to have his eyes anywhere but in a position to see ahead. It certainly is "better to be safe than sorry."

BUSINESS.

Business men, investors and wage earners, particularly those of the latter who are no longer on the payrolls, are beginning to take an interest in the coming fall elections which is decidedly reassuring, says the Boston Commercial. For several years past the percentage of the voters who have participated in the elections has been steadily decreasing and a vast majority of those who have gone to the polls have lacked an enthusiastic interest in either platforms or party candidates. They have voted for what they considered the least of two or three evils.

"This fall there will be an issue," says the Commercial. It will be the restoration of a protective tariff, reestablishment of business confidence, industrial activity and good times.

"If the Republican leaders have the courage to stand pat on the policies that enabled their party to win in a large majority of all the elections since the civil war, a landslide may carry it to first place in November, nothwithstanding it occupied third place two years ago.

"The foregoing i snot a partisan appeal, but a reference to generally recognized facts. All classes of people in the United States are suffering from the misgovernment, from the unwise and radical policies and the pernicious activities of a set of politicians who have resorted to antagonism of business to obtain votes. There is only one way to remedy the evil they have accomplished and that is by turning control of congress over to the conservatives in this fall's elections."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Charleroi man went into a barber shop on the morning of Memorial day, and sat down besides one of foreign nationality. The latter was much interested in the observance of Memorial day and propounded a number of questions to the Charleroi man.

"Are you going out to the cemetery this afternoon" he asked.

"No, not today" replied the Charleroi man.

"Don't you have any relatives in the cemetery, dead?"

"No, I have none"

"Don't have no body dead, to put flowers on their grave—well that's too bad," mused the foreigner.

Recently a man who lives in a nearby township in conversation with a Charleroi store keeper began to talk about the Mexican situation. He led up rapidly to events pertaining to the death of the English subject who was shot by some of the Villa army.

"Why, don't you know," he argued, "the British have plenty of reason to charge the United States with responsibility in connection with the death of that man."

"You're crazy, man," exclaimed the storekeeper. "Why John Bull has more now than he can attend to with the suffragetts.

ART IN PROPER CULTIVATION OF GOOD ROSES

Climbing roses are valuable aid to the man who is interested in having his home in attractive surroundings With a fine lawn, artistically massed shrubbery, and a wealth of vines clamoring over the porch and roof, many a plain and unpretentious house has been transformed into a most attractive dwelling place. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has a rose garden on its grounds and many experiments have been made in the treatment of the various kinds to secure the best results.

After the blooming season of the climbing rose is over in June, the department's landscape gardener advises that shoots should be pruned so as to throw the growth into the new wood that bore no flowers this year, for this is the part of the plant that will bear next year. When a trellis is low (6 or 8 feet high) it is a good plan to cut off the shoots that have borne flowers this year clear to the ground.

Most people in following this advice may feel that they are ruining their bushes to cut them back so severely, but the young shoots that have started about the roots will surprise them by springing up with wonderful rapidity. Each bush will probably put forth several new shoots that will grow as long as those cut or one shoot will grow much longer. In either case the trellis will soon be covered again. One shoot in a Washington garden last year grew 20 feet after the bush had been cut down in this manner.

In the case of a high trellis a different method must be followed. The renewal of wood must begin from a point higher up instead of from the root as the growth of a bush is not enough to replace all its top on a high trellis if required to grow so far. Only so much of the old wood should beremoved after the flowers are bloomed as will enable the new shoots from the end of the remaining portion of the stalk to replace the old growth. About 4 feet is a safe measure of the amount that may be taken off.

Those who have grown climbing roses as a screen on their porches in order to insure a fine bloom the coming year, will do well to follow the advice as given for the higher trellis. In other words, about 4 feet of the old stalks that have bloomed should be cut off immediately after the blosoms are withered. The foliage will recover within a very short period, and continue to screen the porch and next year an abundant crop of blossoms will be assured.

CLIMBS INTO POLE HOLE TO PREVENT PLACING OF POLE

Workmen for the Bell Telephone company have been having troubles of their own these days in attempting to set poles in the Hill district at Monongahela.

When they attempted to set a pole in front of the home of a prominent woman residing in Grant street, they were forced to quit work when she turned the hose on them.

Later an attempt was made to set a pole in front of the residence of Mrs. Fannie Robertson in Vine street. Mrs. Robertson was away from home and during her absence the men succeeded in digging the hole but before they could set the pole she arrived on the scene and planted herself in the hole and no amount of coaxing or reasoning could persuade her to get out as she claimed that the company was damaging her property by placing the pole in front of it. The men finally had to leave and Mrs. Robertson won the day.

BOY'S BRIGADE ENJOYS A HIKE

Members of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian Boys' Brigade enjoyed their first "hike" of the season Saturday night when they marched to what is known as Hannen's Hill in Fallowfield township and camped out over Sunday. On Sunday morning F. A. Wise, who is one of the head officers of the company conducted Sunday school services. The return trip was made late Sunday afternoon. Capt. Charles Wallgren was the commanding officer.

Advertising

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff tnat goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others

The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any event that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

Literary Evening.

The man was one of the sort that thinks it is a grand thing to educate his financee by reading poetry aloud to her.

The girl was one of the sort—well she was a girl. That is, having decided that she was for the man, she pretended to fall in with his literary taste; nay, even tried to keep up an interest in it. So, well, the other evening he was reading Tennyson to her. He read this line:

"Of love that never found his earthly close—"

When the girl interrupted:

"Isn't Tennyson just grand? You can always learn something from him. Now, for the first time I understand why Cupid is always represented without anything on. But please go on reading—your voice has so much feeling in it!"

Hard Luck Experiences

Two New Yorkers of some experience in travel other than by the rapid transit lines of the metropolis were telling hard luck stories.

"About the worst I ever got up against," said one, "was buying from a Connecticut Yankee what was represented to be a pullet, and, by gravy, it turned out to be a hen so old she couldn't lay fresh eggs."

"Hard lines, hard lines," sighed the other, who had a red nose, "but think of me being marooned for a whole month in a Kansas town which was so teetotally temperance that even the cows had gone dry at the last election."

Where Apostles Fished.

The abundance of fish in the Sea of Galilee continues to this day to be the wonder of travelers. For the most part the fishing done by the Syrians involves the use of nets, probably identical in construction with those of the Apostles, and the best evidence that the fishing throughout all these centuries has been accomplished by these nets is to be found in the ease with which the greater part of the fish may be deceived with the aid of any bait, natural or artificial. The pellucid water of this lake, with its everchanging reflections, is in striking contrast with the muddy depths of the River Jordan. The silt in that stream, however, does not seem to inconvenience the fish, which are extraordinarily plentiful, even in the lower reaches before it falls into that deathly lake which the Arabs call the Sea of Lot.

Queer Marriage Superstitions.

A curious idea about the Burmese is that people born on the same day of the week must not marry, and that if they defy the fates their union will be marked by much ill luck. To prevent these disastrous marriages every girl carries a record of her birthday in her name, each day of the week having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name which begins with that letter. It is rather hard if the Marys and Marks of Burma fall in love with each other. Unlike other Oriental lands, the younger people are allowed to marry as taste dictates, subject only to the birthday restrictions.

OPEN WINDOWS IN SCHOOLS

Fresh Air in Study Rooms Beneficial to Health and Happiness of Children.

A medical inspector of the Philadelphia public schools, with the co-operation of teachers and parents, made an experiment to determine the value of cold fresh air in school rooms. He opened the windows at top and bottom and kept them open throughout the winter.

The room was shut off from the heating plant of the building, except on the occasional days when the temperature fell below 45 degrees; but the children, of course, wore extra wraps and had frequent drill exercise.

Week by week during the fall and winter and spring this physician weighed and examined the pupils, watched their study and their play, and compared their progress in health and scholarship with that of pupils in another room of the same building.

In that other room the pupils were of the same grade and of about the same number, but the room was heated and ventilated according to the usual methods. The pupils in both rooms were normal, healthy children from the same kind of homes, so that the test was as fair, accurate and searching as possible.

At the end the inspector found that the pupils in the open-window room had gained in weight on an average more than twice as much as those in the warm-air room. The pupils in the open room kept wholly free from colds, and were much more regular in attendance than the others.

They were also more alert, free from day-dreaming, quicker to learn, needed less review work and were better behaved.

In health, happiness, in body, the children of the room with open windows, had a clear advantage over the others.

The Human Machine.

Is there one of us who does not sometimes treat a person like a machine? Do we always think of the railroad conductor as more than a machine for taking tickets? Do we not often treat our fellow creatures like masks or flat cards without substance and personality? I have been striving for years to overcome in myself and in my medical fellows the professional habit of treating a person as a "case" or a walking disease, writes Richard C. Cabot, in the Atlantic. But the habit of impersonality persists, like original sin, in myriad forms and unexpected ways. In law courts we treat a human being as a "prisoner at the bar," as the "plaintiff," or "defendant," to the exclusion of the fact that he is as real and sensitive as ourselves.

Your Friends.

Treat your friends for what you know them to be. Regard no surfaces. Consider not what they did, but what they intended.—Thoreau.

At whatever value a man set on himself, at that value he should be estimated by his friends.—Cicero.

SATISFACTION COFFEE SOLD BY GROCERS EVERYWHERE

CAN SAVE MONEY BY SENDING EGGS BY PARCEL POST

That eggs can be marketed successfully by parcel post and that this method frequently secures a better price for the producer and a fresher article for the consumer, has now been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the experts in the United States department of agriculture.

The department conducted tests that covered a period of five months. At the end of that period it came to the conclusion that the parcel post was of particular value to the man whose flock was too small or who lives too far from express service to permit him to ship his eggs in the regular commercial case, which holds 30 dozen.

In the course of these experiments the department shipped 9,131 eggs in 466 lots. Of these 327, or slightly less than 3.6 per cent, were broken; but only 209, or slightly less than 2.3 per cent were absolutely wasted. The others, though broken could still be used.

BAMBOO AS PAPER MATERIAL

Experiments Being Made With the Hope That This Material May Be Found Available.

Inventors are seeking a substitute for the wood pulp in the manufacture of paper. So far various methods have been tried to produce the coarser grades of paper from corn husks, grass, reeds and other forms of vegetable life, but print paper has not yet been successfully produced from anything except wood pulp.

In the far east they are making experiments with bamboo as a possible basis for the making of pulp. Some capitalists of the Orient have gone so far as to establish factories in Siam, Burma and India, but the undertaking has not yet been altogether successful. The great factor against the success of the enterprise in India seems to be the question of satisfactory and cheap transportation.

Pulp so far manufactured has had the fault of being too dark in color to bring a satisfactory price. Bamboos most of the time so far have cost $3.41 gold a ton. Little of the product so far has been sold, but samples submitted in London indicate that the company may receive as high as $58.27 gold a ton. The maximum output of the factory so far has not exceeded half of the original expectation of 18 tons of pulp a day, but it is now expected that with a small addition to the plant a normal output of 12 tons can be maintained and that this rate may be exceeded in time, with comparatively little additional expense.

The critical feature of the entire enterprise seems to be in the matter of bleaching the pulp. Experts claim for bamboo pulp certain advantages, among which is the fact that bamboo pulp can be had in parts of the world where other pulp materials are not to be had; it produces a fine pulp which felts readily and produces a thick opaque paper of greater thickness than usual for its weight, making it especially suitable for particular varieties of paper; the fine flexible fiber is easily digested by the ordinary bisulphide process and the bamboo can readily be handled mechanically and chemically.

Engineers Laugh at Obstacles.

Like the mining engineer, the building engineer now finds practically no problem in his field which he can not solve, and the question of excavating for foundations for high buildings is little more than a routine matter. Depth is no great hindrance as has been demonstrated in New York. For the greatest office structure in the world, on the site of the Equitable building destroyed by fire, the engineers dug and blasted far below the street, and at a depth of eighty feet found a rock bed around the entire site for the more important base of the foundation. It is on this bedrock that the mighty cofferdam, which will form the true middle of a foundation covering over 49,000 square feet will be built. The cofferdam itself, when complete will be a solid concrete wall six feet broad and eighty feet deep strengthened or reinforced by heavy steel rods.

Dinner Evidently Was a Success.

The Ladies Aid of Buffalo gave a big chicken pie dinner at the sale in Shiell's hall last Saturday. There was a large attendance and the whole affair was a success. The ladies know that advertising pays, and they patronized the pages of the Review liberally with their announcements. The women that made the chicken pies were on the job with both feet and their hats on and the fried cake and bean artists produced an article that tasted more ish. There was a big bunch of youngsters present and when they got action on the chicken pie and other fixens" the food disappeared like water down a badger hole. The financial end of the dinner produced the sum of $165.50 in cash. There is no disputing the fact that when the Ladies' Aid of Buffalo squares away to do things they do them.—Buffalo (Mont.) Review.

High-Speed Shorthand Machine.

A new shorthand machine, called the stenotype, has made its appearance at a competition in New York. It takes down 592 words a minute and weighs eight pounds. The working of it is based on phonetic spelling. Several letters can be printed by striking one key, while it is possible to strike two keys with one finger. The 23 keys represent seven consonants and every combination of sounds used in speech together with about 150 standard abbreviations—the sole code that the operator must master. The machine is not being sold to the general public, the sale being restricted to students of business schools qualified as competent operators, in order to keep the device from becoming a drug on the market.

Cynics in Politics.

A new York reformer said at a dinner:

"We have no use for the cynic—no use for the man who, having been asked to define the word 'reformer,' said:

"'Reformer? Oh, he's a chap who failed to get an office out of either party.'"

Eve Not a Suffragist.

"A woman ought to stay at home attending to the dinner," said the man who resents present tendencies.

"No," replied Mr. Meekton, "that's where the human race made its first great mistake. If Eve had been out lecturing instead of passing round the fruit, we'd have been spared an immense amount of trouble."—Exchange.

CHARLEROI WINS GAME AT ROSCOE

Charleroi's nine of baseball sluggers and fielders in the rejuvenated Monongahela Valley league short ended the Roscoe hopefuls on the Roscoe slope Saturday afternoon by the score of 8 to 4. There were several things to the game, among which might be promiently mentioned those pertaining to the everlasting banging of the ball by the Charleroi wrecking crew.

Murder started in the second inning, and there was no cessation of hostilities until the conclusion of the sixth which was the Charleroi big noise inning. At this time four runs were tallied by the Magies, or whatever you call them. Roscoe's four runs were tallied in the fifth inning, when those fellows from that mining village soaked the salivated pill savagely.

Bill Donahue did the hurling for Charleroi, and performed well. Lefty Sutherland twirled for Roscoe. The score:

Eggs When Not Used as Food.

For burns and scalds nothing is more soothing than the white of an egg, which may be poured over the wound. It is softer as a varnish than collodion, and, being always at hand, can be easily applied. It is also more cooling than the sweet oil and cotton which were formerly supposed to be the surest application to allay the smarting pain. The egg is considered to be one of the best remedies for dysentery. Beaten up slightly, with or without sugar, and swallowed at a gulp, it tends, by its emollient qualities, to lessen the inflammation of the stomach and intestines, and by forming a transient coating on these organs, to enable nature to resume her healthful sway over a diseased body. Two, or at most three eggs per day would be all that is required in ordinary cases; and since egg is not merely medicine but food as well, the lighter the diet otherwise and the quieter the patient is kept the more certain and rapid is the recovery.

Milk in Red Bottles.

The discovery is said to have been made that milk kept in red bottles will remain sweet and pure longer than when kept in plain glass or other colored bottles. Experiments have been made with the spectrum to determine which of the rays of light affect milk, and it has been found that it is the rays toward the violet and of the spectrum that do the mischief. The red ray is stronger and more neutralizing and probably has some neutralizing effect upon the lacteal microbe. If experiments confirm the theory that the red bottle preserves the milk better than the bottle now in use, the red bottle should be adopted generally. Such a change will create a new set of milk bottle millionaires.—Knickerbocker Press.

THREE INJURED IN EXPLOSION AT GAS WELL

Three men, A. B. Kightlinger, George D. Crum, and Rocert Eisminger were seriously hurt Sunday in an explosion at the William Garrett gas well at Beallsville. The men had drawn thetube from the well, prepatory to leaving it for the day. when without warning, flames shot high into the air, enveloping the three workmen and igniting the rigging. Other workmen, nearby, ran to the rescue of the injured men and carried them from danger. The rigging was burned to the ground.

A force of men with steam lines, under the direction of Field Foreman B. O. Ross, succeeded in smothering the flames. It is estimated that between 12,000 000 and 15,000,000 feet of gas has escaped and the well is still pouring out gas at the rate of about 150,000 cubic feet an hour. A large force of men is endeavoring to shut in the flow. The well was bought in last Thursday by the Manufacturers Light and Heat company and developed into one of the biggest gassers ever struck hereabouts producing at an estimated rate of 3,500,000 cubic feet a day. It was shut in with difficulty.

DR. DIXON TELLS OF BEST WAY TO BEAR HOT WEATHER

In his weekly talk on health and hygiene, Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, state health commissioner discusses "Hot Weather Maxims." He says. "Overcome by the heat. This will be a frequent headline in the papers for the next three months.

"In the minds of the majority of the people all ills resulting from excessive heat are grouped under one head. There are as a matter of fact two distinct types of ailment from this cause. heat stroke or thermic fever and heat exhaustion. In the first of these the patient usually runs a high temperature and the treatment calls for ice baths. In heat exhaustion the heart and respiration are depressed. When the humidity is high over-exertion is more apt to cause heat exhaustion.

"In extreme weather endeavor to secure some circulation of air in the dwelling and workroom. There is less likelihood of prostration when the air is in motion.

No time should be lost in securing the services of a physician when anyone is overcome by the heat. No layman is competent to distinguish between the two types and give the treatment required.

"In begining the summer months it is well to fix these few maxims in your mind.

"Don't hurry—remember it was the tortoise that won the race.

"Don't worry—for your sake and the other fellows.

"Eat regularly but sparingly—even an ostrich should use some discretion in hot weather.

"Alcoholic beverages—if you must use alcohol burn it in a chafing dish.

"Avoid ice water and ise cold beverages—it is dangerous to paralyze your stomach because the theremometer is on the rampage."

WILL MAKE TOUR FROM COUNTY TO STATE COLLEGE

The indications are that Washington county will send at least 200 persons on the excursion to State college tomorrow. Over 125 have already signed up until Saturday. There are many women among these. Butler county is sending over 100. The first train from Washington will connect with the excursion which leaves Pittsurg at 7:30. Those going are advised to be sure and take dinner and supper along as there will be little opportunity to secure anything on the trip. Baskets will be checked free on train while at college. Return transportation to Washington will be arranged.

As announced before the round trip rate will be only $3 from Pittsburg and there will be no expense whatever at the college. Five dollars should cover the entire expense.

At 10 o'clock the court house bell began to toll notifying the public that the jury had reached a decision. Large crowds had been waiting in front of the building and at the sound of the bell made a rush for the court room. When Judge Ingram rapped for order at 10:09 o'clock the room was packed. A hush fell over the room as the jurors filed into the room and continued until three minutes later when the verdict was read.

A motion for a new trial was made by the defense. If the petition for a new trial is not presented to Judge Ingram in four days he will impose sentence.

Alex. Gray division superintendent of the state highway department, submitted a report showing the amount of work done on the state roads on the 26th of May. He estimated that more than $2,500 worth of work was done and over 800 men were at work on 37 or more miles of state roads.

The secretary was instructed to send out blanks to the chairman of the various committees to be filled in showing the number of men at work on May 26. number of teams, road machinery used, number of miles of road worked, estimated cost and the names of all those who contributed in service or any other way toward the success of the movement.
